

Warhammer's Eldar Falcon Grav-Tank

The model is made from injected moulded plastic. The main components consist of an upper and lower hull, engine mounts and an upper weapons turret.

When assembled, it is fitted with a ramp towards the rear, as the flying tank also has a troop-carrying role. The tank can be fitted with a selection of weapons both on the main hull and turret. The crew of two are visible through the cockpits mounted on the hull and turret. A good selection of decals come with the kit to personalise the model with freedom to design your own colour scheme.

